ANALYSIS OF RECEIVING MARKET SERVICE RETRIBUTIONS
BEFORE AND DURING PANDEMIC
AT THE TRADE OFFICE OF YOGYAKARTA CITY

Yohana Christina Chandra, Surifah, Dr., M.Si

Abstract

This final project report analyzes the differences in the acceptance of market service retribution before and after the pandemic at the Yogyakarta City Trade Office. The Department of Trade manages trade and handicraft levies. Receipt of market service retribution before and after the pandemic experienced a significant decrease when viewed from the effectiveness analysis, showing that it was very effective.

The purpose of this Final Project Report is to find out how effectiveness analysis can be shown to be very effective. Based on the analysis that has been done, it is known that the effectiveness analysis shows that it is very effective because the targeted budget has decreased.

Keywords: Retribution revenue, market service, before and after the pandemic
